KILLED IN AIR FIGHT

Kiffin Rockwell Falls in Duel

WINSTON SALEM, N. C., Sept. 24.—
Mrs. L. A. Rockwell, mother of Kiffin Rockwell, killed in an air duel while he was flying for France, received the cable announcing his death but a few hours after she had received a letter from him telling how he enjoyed his recent vacation in Paris with his brother Paul.

Jumps in After Baby, But He Can't Swim.

NBW YORK, Sept. 24.—Herbert William Booth, two years old, strayed away from his brother, Harry S. Booth, ten, when the two were playing in an abandoned stone quarry near their home at Cliffside Hark, N. J., yesterday. Harry did not see that he had gone until he heard a wall of fright that was cut off by a splash.

He ran in the direction of the sound, just in time to see his brother disap-pear in the water which filled a deep hole in the quarry. Harry could not swim. He shouted for help and none came. Then he turned and leaped into the black water himself.

A half hour later, those who hall heard the children's cries recovered their bodies.

With German Fought Over
Alsace, France.

PARIS, Sept. 24.—The second death in the squad of Americans flying for France occurred when Kiffin Rockwell, of Atlanta, Ga. was shot down in an air duel with a German flier over Alsace. He fell within the French lines. Rockwell will be buried with military honors Monday.

Victor Chapman, of New York, was the first of the American filers to meet death in the air, He was riddled with bullets.

William Thaw, another American filer, still is out of action as a result of wounds.

Kiffin Rockwell, before joining the American flying corps of France, was a resident of Atlanta, Ga. He was a member of an advertising agency. He was first mentioned in the French dispatches May 21 for bringing down a German aeroplane near Hartsmanns-weilerkopf. His third victim was dropped while he was flying alone over Verdun.

WINSTON SALEM N. C. 2006.

Elizabeth is the daughter of Capt. Volney Chase, U. S. N. and Mrs. Chase. She has a brother in the navy, too, Lieut. Nathan Chase, with the aviation corps at Pensacola, so henceforth she will be allied with both branches of the service. The Chases claim Washington for their home. Mrs. Chase, who was Susie Brown, was a Washington girl. I believe, and Captain Chase has been stationed here a number of times. They own an attractive home in Drummond, Md., near Chevy Chase, which they occupied when they were here about four years ago.

Lieutenant Thempson is also a Washingtonian, is the son of Mrs. Charles T. Thompson of this city. He is attached to the Fifth Cavalry stationed at Fort Myer, but now on duty on the border, He has been on sick leave for several months occasioned by a broken leg and typhoid fever.

At the outbreak of the Mexican trouble, Tommy was detached from the Fifth Cavalry and put in charge of a motorcycle battery, the first to be organized for the American army. He gave a dinner last night at the Army and Navy Club. corps at Pensacola, so henceforth she

Of the other engagements of the week I was especially interested in the engagement of Wallis Warfield, of Baltimore, to Lieut, Winfield Spencer, of the navy aviation corps, and of Mary Irwin to Lieut. Thomas Larkin, of the Engineer Corps. The brass buttons still possess no end of charm for the girls. Wallis met her fiance last year at Pensacola, where he is stationed, when she visited Captain and Mrs. Mustyn.

As Popular Here as She Is in Baltimore.

Mrs. Mustyn is Mrs. George Barnett's sister, and Walls is their cousin. She is chic, vivacious, witty, and almost as popular here as she is in Baltimore, having visited Mrs. Barnett at the Marine Barracks a number of times. I may be letting cats out of bags, as the plans aren't quite complete, but the wedding is scheduled to take place early in November, and I understand that, Mrs. Barnett's two daughters. Anne and Lella Gordon, are to be in the wedding party as well as one of Lieutenant Spencer's sisters. Mrs. Mustyn is Mrs. George Barnett's duty at Washington Barracks for duty at Washington Barracks for some time, has three or four months' duty with troops on the border before him, and Mary Irwin will make no plans for her wedding until after his return. I do hope they'll be stationed here, for she's a dear, and the four years she spent in Boston and abroad are quite long enough for her to be away from Washington.

I was sorry not to go to Francise Williams' wedding. I hear she made a beautiful bride, with her billowy gown of tulle, and young John Pitney is certainly a fine looking chap. Edgewater House was banked with flowers for the occasion, hundreds of pink roses and hydrangeas. Newport roses, pink and blue. The maid of honor, Anne Bradley, of Morristown, wore a blue tulle frock and a silver lace hat. Altogether it must have been very sweet, and a letter from Louise, who was at the ceremony says. "Francise looked for all the world like Juliette (her sister, Mrs. Joseph Leiter) did on her wedding day some six or seven, or, dear me, it may be eight, years ago."

Well, that's all the gossip for today. Write soon. Fondly yours.
